

Summer Term Newsletter

Welcome to Summer Term at Evelina Hospital School

We are proud of our reputation for providing a caring and purposeful environment in which the individual needs of each pupil are recognised, and their achievements and abilities are celebrated.

The children who come to our school are happy and make excellent progress.

As this Summer Term Newsletter demonstrates we offer a stimulating school environment and aim to inspire our pupils to creatively develop a range of skills.

We are delighted to have been recognized as an 'outstanding' school by Ofsted during our inspection last term!

Spring Term Highlights

We celebrated the 20th World Book Day in style with staff dressing up as their favourite literary characters. We even created our own story book with the help of author and illustrator Jane Porter. Other recent highlights include visits by Singing Hands—always a favourite with the children—and a workshop by the City of London Symphony Orchestra where the children 'spoke' to each other with music.

Summer Art Exhibition

We are all very excited as we will hold our very first art exhibition at the end of this summer term! At the Evelina, art is a very important part of our curriculum as we find it engages pupils and sometimes our parents. We will showcase around 50 pieces of flat artwork, with some 3D work too. Some of the pieces are the product of a collaborative effort others are the work of individuals. The exhibition will be launched in the Atrium on Wednesday the 12th of July .

Capoeira and Circus Skills

We have a new venture this term for PE. We are pleased to welcome Goia, an expert in Capoeira, the Brazilian martial arts form. Capoeira can be adapted for all needs as it involves music making as well as movement. We will be in the Atrium and the dialysis unit on Thursday mornings until half term. After half term we have booked six sessions of circus skills – so watch out for some juggles and balances as we head into the Summer!

Special Visitors

I am very happy to announce that we are expecting a few visitors from the 26th of June to the 6th of July. These visitors are coming from Incredible Eggs, and they are ducks. The ducks will arrive as eggs, they will hatch and then we will take care of them as their provisional family. I hope everyone comes to visit them in school, they are very curious and enjoy the attention.

Food Technology

In the summer term our young cooks in the classroom are going to be making the following delicious dishes:

May 8: Vegetable lasagne

May 15: Rhubarb and apple crumble

May 22: Pretzels

June 5: Olive and cheese bread

June 12: Fruit kebabs

June 19: Cheese and tomato whirls

June 26: Samosas

July 3: Vegetable pasta salad

July 10 and July 17: Ice cream

Summer Term Events to look Forward to

Our cartoonist Richy Chandler will be back in June to run more amazing comic workshops. Look out for the first Evelina Hospital School comic strip book.

Phil, our regular storyteller will also be back to lead us in some Shakespearean story telling workshops. In May and July our Bollywood dancers will be here to teach us how to dance

'Bollywood-style'. There will be a showcase event at the end of each session!
